VOLUME CVIII.--NO. 277. ALEXANDRIA, VA., THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21, 1907. PRICE 2 CENTS.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them; and in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements, caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native, medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

JUSTICE BREWER'S VIEWS.

The newly formed Civic Forum, an outcome of the peace conference of last year, began its public career last night as a lyceum for the discussion of national and international topics by a meeting in Carnegie Hall, New York, at which Gov. Hughes and Justice David A. Brewer, of the Supreme Court, made addresses.

Gov. Hughes devoted much of his speech to amplifying the idea that the public officer must work for the people only and not to satisfy his own ambitions.

Justice Brewer spoke on "Public Office in Relation to Public Opinion," and surprised his audience by severe criticism and arraignment of President Roosevelt.

Justice Brewer not only reflected on the President openly, but by innuendo. He contrasted openly Roosevelt and Hughes. The governor escaped embarrassment by leaving early. It was said that he had no knowledge of what Judge Brewer intended to say.

Justice Brewer spoke of mob rule, denounced lynching, and declared that the country just now was "full of constitutional lawyers." He spoke of the sacredness of the Constitution, and passed to the subject of rulers.

Among other things, Justice Brewer said: "Despotism and a mob are the two extremes of government. In the one the people have nothing to say, and in the other they have unrestrained voices. True democracy occupies the middle ground. The more constant and universal the voice of the people, the nearer the approach to an ideal government.

"Initiative and referendum make public opinion the quality controlling. The more promptly and more fully public officers carry into effect such public opinion the more truly is government of and by the people realized.

"In this country we elect political officers generally for short and specific terms. For the term elected, ruling, of course in accordance with constitutional provisions, the one selected is a ruler. He may be impulsive, enthusiastic, strenuous, exhibiting a spectacular and dramatic life, or calm and self-poised in administration.

"The President is the Chief Magistrate of this nation, not for his glory, but for our good. Indeed his greatest glory should be in accomplishing the most for our welfare.

"It may not be generally known that the convention that framed the Constitution at first prescribed a presidential term of seven years with a prohibition on re-election. In the judgment of some men, among whom I am one, there is a mistake in changing the seven-year term with prohibition on re-election to the present four-year term. In the light of history I think it would have been better to have left the presidential term seven years. If that were the provision, we should not now have the spectacle of a strenuous President playing a game of hide and seek with the American people."

LINGERING COLD.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

STAMPEDE AT A FUNERAL.

During the progress of the funeral yesterday at Quickeb Church, near Zions View, in the vicinity of York, Pa., of William and Curvin Hoover, the youths who were murdered last Saturday at Pleasureville, a panic occurred among the several thousand persons assembled and about 40 were injured. A rumor that the roof in the church was about to fall in, followed by a creaking noise and the collapsing of several stoves, caused a mad rush for the exits.

Near the pulpit, where the caskets had been placed, a pathetic scene was presented. The parents of the murdered youths, as soon as the rush for the doors and windows began, jumped quickly in front of the caskets and tried to fight off the maddened crowd. Their efforts, however, were unsuccessful, both coffins were overturned, and the bodies, rolling upon the floor, were trampled upon by hundreds.

At the rear exit, where the stampede was the greatest, the bodies of the injured were piled several feet high.

The two bodies of the murdered boys were lying upon the floor of the church surrounded by overturned and broken benches. The bodies were restored to the caskets and taken outside. When quiet was restored Rev. Dr. Adam Stump, from the doorway of the church, preached the final sermon.

The bodies were then taken to the adjoining graveyard, where interment was made.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

JAIL DELIVERY FRUSTRATED.

A jail delivery at the Genesee county jail, Batavia, N. Y., was prevented Tuesday night by the presence of mind of Mrs. Williams, wife of the sheriff.

When Turnkey Taggart made his evening rounds he was accompanied by W. McPherson, who is held for horse-stealing. All went well until the latter's cell was reached. As Taggart was opening the door McPherson felled him with a blow on the back of the head and started for the cells of the other two men. Although nearly unconscious, Taggart grasped McPherson and clung to him.

Mrs. Williams heard the noise and ran to the scene. She immediately telephoned for the police, and two officers who responded quickly subdued McPherson. McPherson made a confession in which he said that he was to release two other men and was to receive $50 from one for his part in the job. A woman was to be waiting outside with a carriage to aid the men in their escape. The men were placed in irons.

A Significant Prayer.

"May the Lord help you make Bucklen's Arnica Salve known to all," writes J. G. Jenkins, of Bapel Hill, N. C. It quickly took the pain out of a felon for me and cured it in a wonderfully short time." Best on earth for sores, burns and wounds. 25c at all drug stores.

Ely's Cream Balm has been tried and not found wanting in thousands of homes all over the country. It has won a place in the family medicine closet among the reliable household remedies, where it is kept at hand for use in treating cold in the head just as soon as some member of the household begins the preliminary sneezing or snuffling. It gives immediate relief and a day or two's treatment will put a stop to a cold which might, if not checked, become chronic and run into a bad case of catarrh.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 21, 1907.

THAT there are too many newspapers in this country is a patent fact, but the high water mark, it is believed, has been reached and the receding tide will carry many into oblivion. In one publication received at this office today no less than forty-two newspapers in various sections are offered for sale, some at ridiculously low prices and most all for the reason that their owners wish to embark in more profitable business. The truth is the newspaper business has been vastly overdone and with few exceptions outside the big cities the earnings are so small as to be entirely incommensurate with the labor and worry of the publishers, many of whom are now being driven from the journalistic field. The time was, and not many years ago, either, that with a few hundred pounds of type and a cheap press a man of ordinary intelligence could start a newspaper and make a living, too. But times have changed and now the money required to properly equip an office and the big expense attached to the publication of a daily make such an investment so risky that but few are now found willing to engage in a business that offers so small returns. Then, too, the cheap big dailies of the big cities, through the medium of the fast mails and the rural free deliveries, are sent broadcast through the smaller cities, the towns and the country, leaving but a small field for the papers of less pretentions.

IT IS stated that the government's issue of $100,000,000 in treasury certificates of indebtness is engrossing the attention of New York bankers, who apparently have not reached a definite decision as to the course they shall pursue. The subscriptions so far received at the New York sub-treasury seem to indicate that the larger banks in that city are withholding their offers of purchase. The fact that the banks are holding off has naturally led to reports that the heads of the largest banking institutions are desirous of obtaining assurance from Washington that the money paid out in New York for the purchase of the new securities will again be depositors in their local institutions. Why, of course! New York wants the earth and the fullness thereof.

A NEW death test which absolutely precludes the possibility of burial alive has been discovered at the Lariboisiere Hospital, in Paris. Experiments have shown that radiographs of bodies taken even a few minutes after death reveal clearly the outlines of all the organs, whereas if the radiographs are taken during life the organs are not revealed. Some people add to the burdens of life by cogitating on the possibility of being buried alive at the close of their worldly mission. The above statement should afford much relief.

PEOPLE who believe in dreams will doubtless have their faith in the same strengthened by a story that comes from West Virginia. The body of Charles Sherwood, who disappeared from his home several days ago, was found yesterday evening floating in the Little Kanawha river. A peculiar incident in connection with the finding of the body is that it was picked up at precisely the spot on the river which Mrs. Sherwood, his wife, dreamed on the night of Sherwood's disappearance that she saw him sinking in the river.

OWING TO the cancellation of an order for 425 locomotives by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company with the Baldwin Locomotive Company, the latter concern will discharge 8,000 of its working force, which now number 25,000. Unless new orders are booked the force will be reduced to about 8,000 ultimately. It is estimated that in the north Philadelphia district alone more than 25,000 men will find themselves out of employment this winter and the discharge of workmen seems to be extending throughout the country.

MR. W. J. BRYAN in his lecture at Connellsville, Penn., last night, spoke on the financial situation, expressing the belief that most banks are sound and deposits therein secure. He said "as to the present financial condition, I believe the cause is to be found in Wall street speculation." This seems to be the concensus of public opinion.

A CASE involving the right of a hotel proprietor to exclude a person because of his race came up before Justice Wauhope Lynn, of the Municipal Court, in New York, yesterday, and was decided against the contention that a Jew may be excluded from a hotel because of his race. It is hardly understood how any other decision could have been possible.

Will Not Appoint American Cardinal.

Rome, Nov. 21.—The Pope has definitely decided not to appoint a new American Cardinal at the consistory December 9. He had intended to make no appointments at all, but as such powerful representations have been made in favor of several Italian candidates he will probably yield.

From Washington.

Washington, Nov. 21.

The statement made by Justice Brewer in his speech before the Civic Forum at Carnegie Hall, New York, that President Roosevelt is "playing hide and seek," in his high office was quite a jolt to the friends of the administration here. That one of the most dignified members of the highest court in the land should have thus characterized the President's attitude on the third term question is regarded by some as almost approaching lese majeste, and it is suggested that the President may resent it in some strenuous manner. Justice Brewer's friends, however, contend that there was no intention upon his part to be offensive to the President. Despite his past election announcement, which he has repeated in many forms since, that he would not accept another presidential term, President Roosevelt has been accused of being secretive as to his real intentions. While many of his political callers have endeavored to draw him out again on this subject, the President has not seen fit to become more explicit or to reiterate his former declarations. It is to this situation that Justice Brewer evidently referred when he spoke about the "hide and seek" game, and it is believed by the justice's friends that whatever criticism he meant was intended to apply rather to those who are trying to smoke out the President, than to the President himself.

Fifteen officers of the army were taken through the edurance test in skilled horsemanship from Fort Myer to Falls Church, Va., and return in a drizzling rain by Brig. Gen. Duvall, assistant chief of staff, this afternoon. The ride was in compliance with the orders of the President that all officers below the grade of major shall take a test in horsemanship as a part of their examination for promotion and all above the grade of captain and below the grade of brigadier general shall take the test once in two years to determine their fitness to remain in the service. Six of the officers taking the ride today were of the former class and nine of the latter.

Speaker Cannon was in a railroad wreck at Bismarck, Ill., yesterday, but escaped injury. He has been called to this city for a conference on the financial situation.

Mr. William J. Bryan arrived in this city this morning and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cotter T. Bride.

The rains of the week have considerably interfered with the attendance at the Benning races, though the crowds are fairly good and the sport excellent.

Mr. John Sharp Williams, who is in the city, says: "Basing my conclusion on premises laid down quite often by Speaker Cannon and General Gosvenor, I should say the tightness of money is due to the fear of a democratic victory next year." Mr. Williams believes the democrats have a good chance to elect the next president but knows that the republicans will put upon the democrats everything that goes wrong in the country from now till election day.

RESULT OF HAZING.

Excitement prevailed in the University of South Dakota at Vermillion yesterday over the hazing that will probably result in the death of Miss Anna Johnson, a pretty student from Howard, S. D. It is believed several students will be expelled. Locked in a room on the third floor, Miss Johnson, a freshman, attempted to escape by a rope made of lace curtains. She lost her hold and fell sixty feet to the frozen ground. Miss Johnson had been hazed for several days by girl sophomores. She was finally trapped and locked in on the third floor of the dormitory to prevent her attending the junior reception to the freshman. Her injury was the result.

THE HALT AND BLIND.

A crippled woman and a blind man were married Tuesday in the open street in front of a drug store in Emporia, Va. The bride is an old woman, with shriveled, useless legs, who has for many years appealed to the charity of the passers-by at the postoffice in Richmond. The bridegroom is a blind man from Weldon, N. C. whom she joined several days ago. They arrived in Richmond yesterday. The bridegroom explained the marriage by saying that he would wheel his wife about in her chair and she would see for him.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Next cases to be called: Norfolk and Western Railway Company vs. Duke & Rudacille, Showalter's executors vs. Showalter's widow, Howard et als. vs. Landsburgh's committee, being Nos. 3, 4 and 7 on privileged docket.

Suspension.

Hamburg, Nov. 21.—J. F. C. Moller, & Co., the great Altoona firm of Wax Bleachers, rated at 7,000,000, to 8,000,000, marks has suspended. Several German and English concerns are affected.

The Christmas number of the Metropolitan which has been received from its publishers in New York is a brilliant issue and full of the Christmas spirit. In fiction it is especially strong, a story by Robert Hichens is particularly to be noted. Letters written by Gen. Hamilton from the seat of war in Mexico are thrilling and enthusiastic. A sketch of Hans Memling is given, with reproductions of several of his best-known paintings. A fascinating article appears entitled "Prophecy and the Occult, from Nostradamus and Mother Shipton to Tom Lawson." "The Hebrew Theater" is of interest, as are "The World at large," "The Drama for the month" and other clever contributions.

The Delineator claims that it "embodies the three essentials in woman's development—the perfection of her apparel, information in household matters and quickening of mental powers through good literature." This claim has certainly been made good in its Christmas number which has been received from its publishers in New York. Each department is full of suggestion, helpfulness or entertainment. The most prominent article in this issue is the second instalment of "The Child rescue Campaign" and a special Chistmas appeal has been made for the child that needs a home and a home that needs a child.

The army needs nearly 600 more officers and the War Department has decided to graduate the present first year class of cadets at West Point early in February, about five months ahead of the regular time. This will give the army over 100 more officers, as the new senior class numbers only 109 cadets, and there are more than that number of vacancies existing in the grade of second lieutenant at present. Eighty of these are in the artillery corps.

Georgetown, Nov. 21.—Wheat 73@78,

MRS. BRADLEY ON THE STAND.

After the Gazette's report of the trial of Mrs. Bradley in Washington closed yesterday, Mrs. Adam's letter was offered in evidence. Mrs. Bradley says "it was the letter she saw in Brown's room." It was dated at Philadelphia, December 6, and was addressed. "Dearie, My Dearie." It began:

"The world seems to have taken on another hue, because I have heard from you."

The letter then went on to speak of the visits of someone, supposedly Mrs. Bradley, to the Senator's house, and speaking of her as a "poor, misguided soul," who should be behind bars. The writer proceeded to speak of her own engagements as an actress and said that she would not be in the cast for some weeks, but would keep him advised. The letter then entered upon a dissertation upon love and hate, saying that she was "overflowing with love for you, the sweetest and dearest of all, and you and I are to become believers in the divine command to love one another. Believest thou this?"

At 2 o'clock Mr. Powers concluded the direct examination of Mrs. Bradley, and District Attorney Baker began the cross-examination, taking it up with the prisoner leaving her room to go to Senator Brown's before the shooting.

"You said you did not aim the revolver. "Are you very sure?"

"I am."

Mrs. Bradley said she did not remember taking the revolver out of the handbag, nor did she recall destroying any letters or other papers in her room. She said she had also found other letters from Mrs. Adams in the room of Senator Brown, but did not read them. "Did you search the dresser for them and find them?" "I suppose I did. I took the letters to the station with me, but they took them away from me and didn't let me read them." Mrs. Bradley said she had never before read any letters from Mrs. Adams to the Senator. "I knew of the old relation between them," she said, "but thought it had been broken off." Going back to her first acquaintance with Senator Brown, Mrs. Bradley said she had known Mrs. Brown intimately.

"Did you go frequently to her house from 1898 to 1901?" "Not more frequently than she came to mine." "Did you take meals at her house?" "No more than she took at mine." "Did you frequently go there as often as two or three times a day?",

"I did not."

The witness went on to say that the friendship with Mrs. Brown had been broken off in 1901, when her (Mrs. Bradley's) sisters had gone to Mrs. Brown and told that lady of the relations between the witness and Senator Brown. Some letters relating to this rupture were then exhibited and identified by Mrs. Bradley. One letter was signed "L. M. J." She said that in his first letter to her he had called her a "little mint julep," and she had adopted the first letters as a signature.

Upon being read the letter proved to be a precautionary note to Senator Brown regarding their relationship. In another letter written by Mrs. Bradley to Brown in July, 1901, and addressed "My life, my all," Mrs. Bradley said: "I shall kill her or go mad."

"Did you refer to Mrs. Brown in that sentence?" asked Mr. Baker.

"I don't know," was the reply.

In another letter Mrs. Bradley told of having met "the madam" (meaning Mrs. Brown) on the street, and described her as looking like an Indian chief because of her headdress.

Being asked if she remembered having written a letter to Brown prior to September, 1903, in which she used the expression "the longer the madam stays there (in Senator Brown's Brigham street house) the more strongly entrenched is the enemy." Mrs. Bradley replied that she did not recall it. She admitted that she had told Mr. Brown that his older children by his wives did not need the attention that her children deserved from him. But she declared she had never written him saying, "I need the Brigham street house for our little ones and our unborn children." Another letter written by Mrs. Bradley from the Brown farm was read. It was full of endearing terms. She insisted upon a visit from Brown saying:

"Our business shall be love." In this letter she advised the Senator to empty the Brigham street house of Mrs. Brown's effects. She also spoke of a newspaper item in which she had seen a reference to Mrs. Brown. "It aroused in me the bitterest resentment to see her spoken of as Mrs. Brown," the letter went on. "It makes me a whirlwind of fury when I know that I ought to have your home and bear your name."

Referring to the last sentence, Mr. Baker asked Mrs. Bradley if she was not trying to break up the Brown home.

"I was not," she replied; "you have not heard the other side." The witness admitted she was doing all she could to urge Brown to keep his promises.

Mr. Baker brought out the fact that when the son, Arthur Brown, was born Mrs. Bradley was living with her husband, but she said Brown was paying her rent and Bradley was only paying his board. No one but herself and Senator Brown had, she said, knew Brown to be the father of the child. "He was christened Arthur Brown, not Arthur Brown Bradley," she continued.

There were about 40 persons present at the christening, she said, and while no one knew the facts except herself and Senator Brown, some of them had afterward told her they suspected the truth. She had dined with Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Brown with her after Arthur's death.

At this point court adjourned for the day.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Bradley resumed the stand under cross-examination at 10 a. m. She was nervous, and replied to District Attorney Baker's question with firmness.

"How many times were you arrested?" asked the prosecutor. "Three or four times." "Yet you continued to live with Brown?" "Yes." You had a great deal of influence over Brown, did you not?" "It was a mutual influence, I thought, which we had over each other."

Asked about statements in which she is said to have declared her intention of shooting Brown, Mrs. Bradley denied them utterly As Baker sought, time and again to bring Mrs. Bradley to the point of admitting vindictiveness against Mrs. Brown, or Brown himself, she saved herself by a lucid explanation of circumstances. "You sought out the Senator, did you not?" asked Attorney Baker, "with the purpose of taking and keeping him from his wife?" "Certainly I did," she replied distinctly.

"Did you ever hit the Senator in the mouth with an umbrella, knocking out several of his teeth?" "Yes," was the whispered admission.

During August, 1906 Mrs. Bradley said that she had many conferences with Senator Brown's secretary on the subject of her marriage.

"Did you at any time say that if the Senator did not marry you, you would blow his head off?" she was asked. The witness replied that she was in a desperate state of mind, but denied making the threat. Attempts of the District Attorney to show that Mrs. Bradley goaded Brown to fury, met with denials.

There was a murder trial in Salt Lake in which Senator Brown was counsel.

Mrs. Bradley was asked: "Isn't it true that at the noon recess of this trial, you waited for Senator Brown and took him away with you, instead of letting him remain with his associates?" "I never took the Senator away with me. He alway took me away with him," was the quick response.

Mrs. Bradley denied that Senator and Mrs. Brown, after their reconciliation, offered her a $5,000 house in Los Angeles or Ogden, and an annuity of $100 a month, until the youngest child was 21 years of age. "If the offer had been made," she exclaimed, "I would have scorned it. There was only one way to right the wrong; everybody knew what that way was."

District Attorney Baker dropped the cross examination of Mrs. Bradley, as unexpectedly as he rested the case of the government. Mrs. Bradley, not only answered all questions promptly, but persisted in explaining situations which might have injured her case as they were first presented.

Upon re-direct examination, Judge Powers took up a number of Mrs. Bradley's love letters to Brown as they were read.

Called upon to explain her relations with certain men whose names were mentioned in one of her letters, Mrs. Bradley went into every detail. "I am very sorry," she said, "that these names should have been mentioned in this connection. It is not just to them."

The pictures called up in the letters were those of a fitfully happy existence on the farm near Salt Lake City. Mrs. Bradley's excursions with the children, her interest in the ranch, the gathering of fruit there and the planting of trees—the desperate, indiscriminating devotion to Brown—all was presented in these documents.

Interest in the trial today centered upon the efforts of the government attorneys to shatter the effect of the pathetic story Mrs. Bradley has told of her love, her disgrace and the catastrophe to which it led. This completed, the expert alienists will come forward to pronounce upon the validity of the plea of insanity. In this phase of the trial will appear the hypothetical question prepared by Judge Powers and which is said to be of greater length even than that propounded in the Thaw trial. It contains a review of practically all the testimony thus far adduced including Mrs. Bradley's life history. The defendant begins to see, therefore, the beginning of the end. At the physchological moment her children and Brown's who have not yet appeared in the court room, will be brought to her; and the jurors, when they retire for deliberation, will, in the opinion of the defense, thus have impressed upon their minds a concrete picture of the results of Senator Brown's perfidy.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in Norfolk yesterday concluded a 10,000-word defense of himself and the federation against those who have impugned the motives of himself and his faction.

He vigorously defended himself and the federation against the testimony of Henry Rice, the former advertising solicitor of the American Federationist, branded him as a "hireling" and charged that there were several warrants out for him. Mr. Gompers also made his defense against the revival of the charges of misuse of money, brought against him in 1893.

The convention recommended, in view of the organization of "employers' associations" and "citizens' alliances," that no employers of labor be admitted to membership in any city, State, national or international union.

TOOK GIRL FROM RIVAL.

Information was received at Elizabeth, N. J., yesterday, that a man named Hall, accompanied by Miss Maggie Sawyer, left Southern Mills in a buggy yesterday morning for the purpose of going to Elizabeth City to get married. On their way the couple passed the house of Edmund Daily, fifty years old, a disappointed suitor of Miss Sawyer. After Hall and his bride-elect had passed the house, Daily hitched his horse and started in pursuit, overtaking the young folks on an isolated section of the road. With pistol in hand he held up the lovers, shot young Hall, and dragged the girl out of his rival's buggy and placed her in his own, after which he drove away with her. The present whereabouts of the young woman is not known.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Admiral Beresford's Ultimatum.

London, Nov. 21.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, commander of the English channel fleet, has delivered his ultimatum to first lord of the admiralty, John Fisher, according to high authority. Admiral Sir Percy Scott must retire or he himself will resign.

Sir John Fisher, it is understood, has determined and perhaps already intimated to Lord Charles that he will support Sir Percy; so naval officers generally are looking for the channel fleet commander's early retirement.

The matter will probably not be permitted to rest there, however. Sir John's recent changes and modernization of the navy has built up strong opposition to his methods, and the impression is that Lord Charles will head the malcontents' party in a demand for a naval inquiry—a move suggested before, but which never came to anything through lack of leadership.

The trouble originated with Lord Charles's order summoning the cruiser squadron under Sir Percy to quit gunnery practice and furnish up the ship for the Kaiser's visit. Sir Percy's method of transmitting the order to other ships struck Lord Charles as "flippant and insubordinate," so he summoned the former aboard his flagship and publicly censured him.

To make matters worse, there was an outburst of popular sympathy for Sir Percy, who is the people's idol, and it is to this that Lord Charles's demand for the retirement is supposed to be due.

The Cunarder Mauretania.

New York, Nov. 21—Local representatives of the Cunard Company are awaiting with keen anxiety today's wireless messages from the new liner Mauretania.

To beat the Lusatania's record is impossible, however, as so much time has been lost through battling with head winds and high seas and the officers' inability to get the stokers into efficient shape as yet.

The last message was at 10 Wednesday night by way of the Cape Race wireless station. A brief account was given of the breaking Monday night of the lashings which held one of the big anchors in place on the forecastle deck. To keep the great weight of metal from doing serious damage it was necessary to slow down an hour and thirty minutes. Captain Pritchard himself adjusted the lashings, a somewhat perilous task in the heavy seas. The log showed the ship to have traveled 1,595 miles at the end of the third day's run, as compared with the Lusitania's 1,701. The Mauretania is expected about noon tomorrow.

Queenstown, Ireland, Nov. 21.—With her sister ship, the Mauretania, falling decidedly short of expectations, the Cunarder Lusitania bids fair to beat all previous records on her present trans-Atlantic voyage. Passing Sandy Hook, east bound, at 4:38 p. m. November 16, she was 175 miles west of Fastnet at 10:35 today. This should bring her into Queenstown about 8 tonight, in four days, twenty-four hours and twenty-three minutes.

Troops Fight Rioters.

Vladivostok, Nov. 21.—Several persons were killed and scores injured in a desperate fight between troops and a band of drunken rioters who attempted to massacre the men and women employes of the municipal abattoir today.

The rioters, 200 or 300 in number, were headed by a man dressed as an army officer. The outbreak is supposed to have started in a drunken frolic. The mob descended so suddenly on the abattoir that there was no time for an alarm or resistance, and the leader promptly ordered all employes hanged.

His followers were attempting the first execution on an improvised gibbet when the scaffold broke under them and the leader announced the revocation of the decree, but directed that the employes, men and women alike, be arranged before him and began cutting them down with his sword.

The rioters who accompanied him followed his example, using butcher knives and cleavers found in the abattoir, or the clubs they had brought with them.

The men were fighting for their lives and the women screaming with terror when a detachment of soldiers charged into the crowd.

The rioters were either cut down or forced to flee under a desperate struggle, and their victims hurried to hospitals. There have been many arrests.

A Mother Kills Herself and Boys.

Newtown, Mass., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Jessie Hedges killed herself and her two boys, aged 11 and 6, today, by locking them in the bedroom with her, stopping up all openings and turning on the gas. Little is known about the family here and no cause is assigned for the deed.

Elopes for Social Prestige.

Georgetown, Del., Nov. 21.—Georgetown citizens are greatly excited and threaten a lynching when they find John Tozer, a white man, who left here yesterday. They are proceeding on the suspicion that he took with him Mrs. Emma Morris, a young colored woman. The husband of the woman, a respectable colored man, had no suspicion of anything wrong until he came home and found a note on the table, which read:

"I am done with the colored people. I have run away with a white man who is going to make a lady of me."

When the news came out, a number of prominent people got a rope and hunted for the man who was going to make a lady of the runaway negress, but no trace of either was found.

Wife has First Claim.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—A wife, not a man's mother, comes first always, in the opinion of Municipal Judge A. J. Pettit, as delivered to a gathering of deserted wives and children at the Armitage avenue settlement house. "Men are bought before me charged with desertion," he said, "and I tell them they must give half they earn to their wives. The wife works at home. She earns half The law says she shall have it. But a man says, 'Judge, I am only getting $12 a week and I have to give my mother $5 a week, and I can't give my wife half. Well, he must give his wife half, even if his mother becomes a public charge. This is what often leads to wife desertion. The man thinks his duty is to his mother, or to some one else, before it is to his wife."

Elliott's 17-year-old wife and her three babies have been missing from home since Saturday, and today the distracted husband told the police he feared she had killed herself and the children. On Saturday she sent her husband out to buy groceries and when he returned he found that she was gone and all her letters, private papers and pictures of herself and family had been destroyed. Elliott says they were a happy family, and that he cannot conceive why his wife should wish to leave him or take her life.

For a few moments Mrs. Hartje was so overcome by the news that she could not speak. Asked whether she would prosecute her suit for divorce against Hartje she replied: "I cannot say just now."

INVESTIGATING ACCIDENT.

The officials of the new terminal station in Washington have as yet been unable to fix the responsibility for the collision between two trains of the Southern Railway near the southern end of the terminal tunnel on Tuesday evening, in which twenty people were injured. They maintain, however, that the switches at the northern end of the terminal were tampered with by an unauthorized person, so that the south-bound train was started out on the wrong track and directly in the path of the incoming express. The officials, however, do not believe that the switch was thrown with malicious intent. Because of the unfinished state of the construction about the terminal, several hundred employes of the different contractors are about the yards at all hours. It is quite probable that one of this number might have thrown the switch lever.

The railroad officials say that portion of the tunnel where the switches are located is in total darkness, and that it would be impossible for the engineer of a train to tell to what tracks his engine was being switched, as none are familiar with the new route. For that reason Engineer Mitchell, of the south-bound train was unable to tell that he had been switched to the north-bound track, and accordingly allowed his train to continue through the tunnel. Because of several curves none of the trains are able to go at full speed while in the tunnel and this reason alone prevented a more disastrous wreck. Not withstanding that the greater portion of those who were injured are still confined to the hospital none are reported as being in a serious condition, and all are said to be recovering rapidly.

WILL NOT BID.

Some time since Mr. Arthur Bryant petitioned the City Council to sell him a part of the property near the old canal locks, belonging to the city, on which he proposed to erect a manufacturing plant. The matter was referred to the proper committee and Mr. Bryant applied to the Southern Railway officials to lay a switch upon the ground in case he became the purchaser. Today the members of Council received the following communication from Judge J. K. M. Norton, attorney for Mr. Bryant;

I am instructed by Mr. Arthur Bryant to say that he was informed by the railroad that they could not put a switch into the property, which is advertised by the city for sale. This makes it impossible for Mr. Bryant to utilize the property for the purpose he had intended, and so he will not be able to submit any bid for the said property.

ASSAULT AND ROBBERY.

Cries of murder and police were heard shortly before twelve o'clock last night in the northern section of the city, and Lieutenant Bettis and Officers Ferguson and Beach repaired to the locality from which the cries were heard and ascertained that a colored man named Thomas Colbert had been knocked down and robbed of a five-dollar bill and some other money. Colbert alleged that Toots Olden, a well known darkey of this city, had assailed and robbed him, and later Olden and a young colored woman named Jennie Johnson, who, it appeared, had received part of the money, were taken in custody by the officers. Olden was brought before the Police Court this morning, and, on the evidence of the Johnson woman and the victim of the assault and robbery, was fined $50 and sent to jail for six months.

CHILDREN INJURED.

Two children of James Thomas, colored, living on west Duke street, were seriously injured on Tuesday by the explosion of a railroad torpedo with which they were playing. Thomas is a fireman on the Southern Railway, and the children red it is supposed, took the torpedo from his trunk. Dr. A. B. Penn, who was in the neighborhood at the time, was summoned to attend the children. The right eye of one of them was seriously injured so much so that it is feared the sight has been destroyed. The lid and part of the flesh extending to the forehead was literally blown off. One of the legs of the other child was seriously injured.

RIVER NOTES.

Steamers which arrived at this port this morning reported nothing in the river worthy of note. Several barges, bound to this port or Washington, are in the river.

MR. BRYAN'S LECTURE.

All arrangements have been made for the lecture of Mr. William J. Bryan in the Opera House tomorrow night. As has heretofore been stated, many tickets have been sold, especially those for reserved seats. Mr. Bryan's lecture for the most part will be his observations on his world-circling trip, and, of course, will be interesting and instructive. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the work to be conducted in the George R. Hill Memorial Hall when that edifice shall have been completed.

Rev. Mr. Bulla called on Mr. Bryan in Washington this morning, and talked over the plans for the lecture and reception. The patrons of the lecture who wish to attend the reception will repair to the Young Peoples' building immediately after the lecture. When they have been admitted the public will be admitted. Mr. Bryan expressed his pleasure at the prospect of meeting the people of Alexandria, who may desire to attend the reception.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and catartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—MRS. ROSA POTTS, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

A Criminal Attack

on an inoffensive citizen is frequently made in that apparently useless little tube called the "appendix." It's generally the result of protracted constipation, following liver torpor. Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, prevent appendicitis, and establish regular habits of the bowels. 25c at all drug stores.

NOTICE

ALEXANDRIA PUBLIC.

I have this day accepted the agency for the Patent Fin Hot Water Heater. It is now on exhibition in my store where you can inspect same. It is the most modern up-to-date Gas-heated Hot Water Radiator in the World.

When it is considered that we must depend on some method of artificially heating our homes and public places practically half the year, and that during this time our life is largely spent indoors in an artifical atmosphere and temperature, it certainly seems natural that we should use methods of heating that would not endanger health (by violating Nature's laws of physics and physiology), nor be needlessly expensive and wasteful. Yet, the fact is, a very small proportion of our homes and business places are healthfully, comfortably and economically heated.

The Patent Fin Hot Water Radiator or does this or otherwise you may return it. Come in and let us explain it.

Hanging as a Sport.

We would not deny the gravity of death. It is a quite serious matter even to those of us who, while conscious of, or at least admitting, no really sinful performances in the past, would nevertheless, if pressed, confess to certain minor indiscretions which we would be only too willing to join with the Lord in forgetting. Nevertheless, if form or ceremony or general interest be considered the criterion, dying is one of the most popular things one can do. Nobody goes to see a man born, but the entire community turns out to see him buried. Indeed it is well known that many people, perhaps a majority, derive actual enjoyment from beholding with their own eyes life flicker out of a person's body. The almost universal satisfaction found from time immemorial in witnessing a hanging we can understand. The event is more spectacular and less expensive than a circus, possesses grisly human interest to a distinctive degree, is presumably grimly just and, in any case, is unpreventable. If the hanging is to take place anyway, why shouldn't we see it? That is the reasoning, and it seems good enough if one cares for that variety of sport. — George Harvey in North American Review.

Babes as Bait.

"Wot do ye think," said the sailor, "of usin' live babies for bait? We done it in Ceylon."

"Babies for bait? Fishing for shark?"

"No. Crocodile. Baby bait is the only thing for crocodile, and everybody uses it. Ye rent a baby down there for half a dollar a day. Of course," the sailor went on, "the thing ain't as cruel as it sounds. No harm ever comes to the babies, or else, o' course, their mothers wouldn't rent 'em. The kid is simply sot on the soft mud bank of a crocodile stream and the hunter lays hid near him, a sure pertection. The crocodile is lazy. He basks in the sun in midstream. Nothin' will draw him in to shore where ye can pot him. But set a little fat naked baby on the bank and the crocodile soon rouses up. In he comes, a greedy look in his dull eyes, and then ye open fire. I have got as many as four crocodiles with one baby in a morning's fishin'. Some Cingalese women wot lives near good crocodile streams make as much as $2 a week reg'lar out o' rentin' their babies for crocodile bait." —Cincinnati Enquirer.
